DESTINATION SOUTHERN MARYLAND

MAKES AN IMPACT

SOUTHERN MARYLAND IS A LAND OF FIRSTS

MARCH 25, 1634: MARYLAND BEGINS AS

ENGLISH SHIPS – THE ARK AND DOVE – LAND AT ST. CLEMENTS ISLAND IN WHAT IS NOW ST. MARY'S COUNTY.

IN 1642,

MATHIAS DE SOUSA, ONE OF THE ORIGINAL COLONISTS WAS THE FIRST PERSON OF AFRICAN DESCENT TO SERVE IN A LEGISLATIVE BODY IN AMERICA, AND THE FIRST TO EXERCISE THE RIGHT TO VOTE. ST. MARY'S CITY ESTABLISHED AS FIRST CAPITAL OF MARYLAND.

IN 1649, THE ACT CONCERNING RELIGION CODIFIED RELIGIOUS FREEDOM INTO LAW FOR THE FIRST TIME IN THE WESTERN WORLD. THE BILL, NOW REFERRED TO AS THE TOLERATION ACT, GRANTED FREEDOM OF CONSCIENCE AND WAS A FOUNDATION FOR RELIGIOUS FREEDOM IN THE UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION. JUNE 24, 1648: MARGARET BRENT WAS THE FIRST WOMAN TO PETITION FOR THE RIGHT TO VOTE IN AMERICA. SHE IS KNOWN AS THE VERY FIRST SUFFRAGETTE.

FROM THOUSANDS OF YEARS AGO TO PRESENT DAY, SOUTHERN MARYLAND HAS BEEN HOME TO FIRST PEOPLES, THE PISCATAWAY CONOY TRIBE.

ABOUT DESTINATION SOUTHERN MARYLAND

OUR MISSION IS TO ENHANCE SOUTHERN MARYLAND through innovative heritage tourism experiences, comprehensive cultural and natural resource conservation, and excellence in educational opportunities. We assist our region with economic development and work directly with the tourism entities in each of the three counties. SMHAC provides grants to the Southern Maryland region, builds partnerships, and promotes regional identity.

Destination Southern Maryland is the public face of the Southern Maryland Heritage Area Consortium (SMHAC). Founded in 2003, SMHAC is one of the 13 Heritage Areas in Maryland. The heritage area represents Calvert, Charles, and St. Mary's counties. It lies entirely within the Atlantic Coastal Plain and is bounded by the Chesapeake Bay on the east and by the Potomac River on the west and south. Southern Maryland has a thousand miles of shoreline with fossil-laden cliffs, quiet tidal inlets, and sandy beaches. Southern Maryland is a land of ancient history, natural history, native people's history, colonial history, African American history, agricultural history, history of religion, history of wars, history of space exploration, and history of shipwrecks – it is the history of where time and tide meet.

Calvert Cliffs State Park, Chesapeake Beach, Purse State Park, and Flag Ponds Nature Park are only a few of the many Southern Maryland locations that boast amazing fossil hunting for ancient creatures from Maryland's prehistoric past. The Calvert Marine Museum (as the Maryland Paleontology Center) houses over 100,000 fossils in the collection.

Maryland's First Peoples, the Piscataway Conoy Tribe and the Piscataway Indian Nation are still a vital part of the Southern Maryland community, and were officially recognized by the State of Maryland in 2012.

Southern Maryland is where Maryland began. On March 25, 1634, the English ships, the Ark and Dove arrived with settlers (a carefully selected group of Catholics and Protestants) and landed at St. Clements Island in St. Mary's County, marking Maryland's beginning. One of these colonists, Margaret Brent, was the first woman to petition for the right to vote in America in 1648, the very first suffragist.

The Act Concerning Religion, passed by the Maryland General Assembly on April 21, 1649, was the first legislative act allowing liberty of conscience in the Western World. Here, in Southern Maryland, was the first time that religious freedom was codified into law, and, although it applied to differences within Christianity at the time, this law provided the foundation for religious freedom for all faiths (or none) in the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States of America. Southern Maryland is the birthplace of religious freedom.

African American contributions are critical to the story of Southern Maryland. This region has played an important role within the African American experience. Southern Maryland is the home of the first person of African descent to be elected to and serve in a legislature, Mathias de Sousa, in 1642.

Wars spanning centuries have played a role in shaping the region's historical landscape. Southern Maryland was one of the most affected regions of the country during the War of 1812 (1812-1815) between the United States and Britain.

ABOUT THE STUDY

In June 2019, Maryland Heritage Areas Authority (MHAA) engaged Parker Philips Inc. to measure the economic contribution of its 13 heritage areas. The goal of this analysis is to provide a complete assessment of the total economic, employment, and state and local tax impact of heritage tourism. The impact presented in this analysis is broken down into three categories: direct impact, indirect impact, and induced impact. The indirect and induced impacts are commonly referred to as the "multiplier effect."

The primary tool used in the performance of this study is the I-O model and dataset developed by IMPLAN Group LLC. Financial data used in this study was obtained from MHAA, individual heritage areas, visitor surveys, and Maryland tourism data. It included the following data points: operational expenditures, capital expenditures, grants awarded, and payroll and benefits for employees for FY 19. Primary surveys were conducted with heritage area visitors across the state in the heritage area (day and overnight and local and non-local visitors).

WHAT IS A MARYLAND HERITAGE AREA?

Heritage Areas are locally designated and state certified regions where public and private partners make commitments to preserving and enhancing historical, cultural and natural resources for sustainable economic development through heritage tourism. The program is intended as a partnership between state agencies and local communities to optimize the appeal of the state's distinctive regions as heritage tourism experiences. At the same time, heritage areas focus community attention on under-appreciated aspects of history, culture, and natural areas to foster a stronger sense of regional pride.

THE CULTURAL LANDSCAPE OF SOUTHERN MARYLAND is shaped by its history in agriculture and maritime culture. The importance of the land and sea is everywhere in this region including farms that go back to the foundation of Maryland, historic skipjacks, steamboat landings, and fresh oysters and crab from a waterman's morning catch. The region is home to the National Marine Sanctuary of Mallows Bay where a ghost fleet of sunken ships is enjoyed by weekend kayakers.

"THE HISTORY OF SOUTHERN MARYLAND IS AS DIVERSE AS ANYWHERE IN THE STATE. FIRST LANDING CONTACT FROM THE ENGLISH SETTLERS IS HERE. NATIVE AMERICAN HISTORY, BLACK HISTORY, COLONIAL ERA, CIVIL WAR, STEAMBOAT ERA, TOBACCO FARMING, AGRICULTURE, AND WATER CULTURE ARE ALL HERE AND HAVE ALL DEFINED US."
